Capitol Grounds Walking Tour

In January 1905, a special session of the Kentucky Legislature was called to consider a site for a new State Capitol building, due to the rising need for more space as well as space with modern technologies. An appropriation of $40,000 was allotted for the purchase of the land and preparation for the new building. The site chosen was known in Frankfort as the "Hunt Place," a farm containing 33 acres in South Frankfort. The amount expended on the purchase of the site and the work done thereon, performed by day labor, totaled $100,000. The setting was a naturally picturesque location. Frank M. Andrews, the architect whom the commission selected to build the new Capitol, stated that "Nature herself fixed the site."

by the Olmsted brothers, a team including step-brothers John Charles Olmsted and Fredrick aw Olmsted Jr. The brothers formed their partnership in 1898 and followed in the footsteps of their father, the notable Frederick Law Olmsted, the nation's first landscape architect. Not only did the Olmsted Brothers carry on the ideals and characteristics of their father, but they also were outstanding leaders in advancing landscape architecture to a status of honor and recognition among professions. The two brothers were among the founding members of the American Society of Landscape Architects and played an influential role in creating the National Park Service. Their notable Commissions include the United States Capitol and White House grounds, Great Smoky Mountains and Acadia National Parks, Yosemite Valley,

Central Park in New York City, Atlanta's Piedmont Park, as well as entire park systems in
